Roads crew laid off no solution in sight

Anson, Hindon and Minden Townships continue to do without a roads department.

The eight members of the department were laid off Friday following the workday because of a $40,000 deficit in the roads budget.

According to Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt the crew will have to remain off the job until another source of funding for the department is found. He is presently exploring two possibilities.

The township has been pressing the Ministry of Transportation and Communications for an increase in the road maintenance grant to help meet the expenses. According to the reeve the increase in the local grant from year to year has lagged behind that of other municipalities. In addition, according to Nesbitt, money from other departments has been transferred to the roads department in previous years to help meet the costs. "That is not the way I would run a business and it is not the way I will allow this township to be run," the reeve commented.

The members of the council met with a representative of the ministry on Monday, but according to the reeve the meeting was just an information session. We let the MTC representative know where we stand, and he took the figures back to Huntsville," Nesbitt said. "We have not heard anything from the powers that be."

If assistance does not come from the provincial government in the next few days, Nesbitt is considering calling a public meeting to explain the situation to the ratepayers of the townships. He says he won't continue to send the roads department deeper into the red unless he gets the approval of the general public.

Nesbitt said he expected to hear from MTC officials by this evening, Wednesday night, when the council will meet at its regular session. "If the province won't supply the money, or if they don't have the money to give, and the public says we can't spend anymore, I don't know what we'll do," the Reeve said.

"It may be political suicide but there is no way on God's green earth that I am going to spend another cent on road maintenance unless we get money from Queen's Park or approval from the public," commented the reeve.

Mines here could suffer following Sask. ore find

A uranium find in Saskatchewan could have detrimental effects on the efforts to get mines in the southeast corner of the county operating again.

That was the word received by Haliburton County Economic Development Commission chairman (EDC) Glen Hodgson and secretary Bob Stinson when they met with Ministry of Natural Resources Deputy Minister Dr. J.K. Reynolds. The meeting had been arranged to present a number of concerns of the commission to the deputy minister.

The EDC representatives had gone to the meeting to request that the environmental controls for any developments of the old uranium mines in Monmouth Township include the stipulation that a central mill be used to process the ore from various sites. This central mill would ensure minimal disruption to the tourist environment in the area.

A number of uranium companies have already applied to the Ministry of Natural Resources to re-open several abandoned mines for assessment purposes. It had been felt that since the price of uranium had increased that the mines may now be economically viable.

However, Dr. Reynolds told the two representatives that an ore find in Saskatchewan may quickly overshadow any attempt to re-activate the mines. He noted that the Saskatchewan find has been said to have a five percent yield while the ore in the Monmouth area has a 1 to 1 1/2% yield.

Reynolds pointed out that the newest find out west may take up to ten years before it becomes operational and that the Haliburton mines could be brought into production quickly. However he suggested that once the higher grade ore reaches the market, it could seriously hurt any local operation.

Reynolds suggested to the representatives that if there was to be any economic benefit from the mines in the Monmouth area it will have to come in the next five to eight years.

Other matters

The EDC representatives also presented the deputy minister with a number of other concerns related to MNR.

On the question of establishing a pulp mill in the county the deputy minister was not too optimistic. He said he would look into the possibility of carrying out a feasibility study but did not offer any encouragement to the petitioners.

The EDC spokesmen also requested that the fish stocking program for Haliburton be stepped up, as fishing is an important factor in the tourist traffic through the county. The deputy minister pointed out that the ministry is just completing a study of fish populations throughout the province and it may be several years before recommendations emerge from the study.

He also noted the problem of acid rain will complicate any plans of the ministry to re-stock lakes. The MNR spokesman said he felt the acid rain problem would be here for a long time as it will take a great deal of time to develop methods of correcting it.

A request to provide an access road to an area of Crown land in Anson Township will also receive the consideration of the deputy minister. It was pointed out by the EDC spokesman that the only road into the area adjacent to Beer Lake crosses private property and a gate has been set in place by the land owners. It was noted that a large tract of publicly owned land, ideal for hunting and other recreational activity, is without access because of the situation.

The local office of the Ministry of Natural Resources is aware of the problem but little can be done unless extra funds are forthcoming from the province to construct the necessary roadway.

The MNR spokesman also told the representatives that he could not see any reason why more Crown land should be released for private development. He noted there was a large number of cottages and lots already on

Window dedication

Anglican Bishop Allan Read, right, officiated at a special dedication service Monday at St. Peter's Church in Maple Lake. The Bishop was on hand to dedicate a new stained glass window in the west wall of the building. Seen following the service, with the window in the background are, from the left, Stephen Taylor, the journeyman master glazier to designed and built the window, Reverend David Barker of the local Anglican parish, Mrs. Audrey Simpson, the widow of B Napier Simpson Jr. to whom the window is dedicated, and the Bishop.

Special day at St. Peter's

St. Peter's Anglican Church near Carnarvon marked a number of special events this past Monday.

The Anglican Bishop of the diocese, The Right Reverend Allan Read, visited the small stone church on the shores of Maple Lake.

The visit was part of a three day tour of the diocese that included visits to a number of other congregations, a stop at the senior citizens home in Minden and a visit to the Archie Stouffer Public School.

The Bishop however, had some special duties to perform Monday when he visited the Maple Lake congregation. While there Bishop Read dedicated a new stained glass window for the church, pews for the body of the church and a new pulpit.

The window was a gift of the family and friends of B. Napier Simpson Jr. who died June 23, 1978 in a plane crash in Newfoundland.

The pews were a gift from Mildred A. Sisson-Wright and were given in memory of James A. Sisson and family.

The new pulpit was given in memory of Holly W. Dawson by the members of the congregation.

The window, which is set at the west end of the church shows a likeness of St. Peter, for whom the church is named. The work was carried out by Stephen Taylor of England who worked on the project in Toronto, designing, building and installing it himself. The project was started in May of this year Taylor is a journeyman master glazier.

Following the service of dedication the members of the congregation gathered in the church basement for a pot luck supper.

FROM THE CHAMBER

By Bob Stinson

For the second consecutive year there are more individuals anxious to serve on the board of directors of the Chamber than there are positions. This is a healthy sign, not only for the Chamber, but for the community. The only pay these people receive in return for their efforts is the satisfaction in knowing that they have contributed towards the economic viability of the business community as a whole. It is certainly gratifying to know that there are more than enough people prepared to do this.

Added to last week's list of new candidates, we now have James Orr, who last year purchased the Sir Sam's Inn Lodge, and Dave Chaffield who both gathers news and sells advertising for radio and television interests, now running for a position on the board. The existing members of the board who are running for re-election are Barbara Bolin, Director of the Haliburton Campus for Sir Sandford Fleming College, Tim Casey of Shamrock Drilling, Ed Elais of Loreale Lodge, Rhonda Elstone of Elstone Construction Ltd., Bruce Henry of Halimar Resort, and Ann Lee of Silver Eagle Cottages. The executive consists of past president Dennis Waymouth of Silver Springs Cottages, Vice-president Jim McLean of Air Haliburton, and President John Hogg of Mr. Fogg's Fine Foods.

The Annual Meeting is October 6th at the Stanhope Firefighters Hall and tickets are now on sale at the Chamber or from any of the above mentioned directors. Be sure to attend - after all you may be the "Highlander of the Year" - somebody is!

New business in Minden

We are pleased to welcome the Minden by-pass, as a new member of the business community and as a member of the Chamber. Manager Mike Raback has taken up residence on Highway 121 overlooking Minden Lake and is very enthusiastic about his new environment. Mike felt that too large a portion of our automotive parts dollars are going outside the county and hopes to tap some of that flow. Do drop in and visit Mike and his staff and make them welcome.

Shoplifting hurts Ontario's people

The Ontario Chamber of Commerce Executives (O.C.C.E.), a voluntary association of professional managers from Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade across Ontario, has announced the adoption of an anti-shoplifting campaign.

"Operation S.H.O.P." - Shoplifting Hurts Ontario's People - will be offered to Chambers and Boards throughout the province for use at the local community level in March, 1980.

In approving the programme at their annual meeting in Orillia this month, the O.C.C.E. executive outlined a number of goals they hope to achieve:

- to develop community awareness, responsibility and involvement in a unified approach to combat the shoplifting problem;

- to control and reduce the shoplifting problem;

- to inform and motivate retail employers and employees to accept more responsibility in reducing the shoplifting problem through in-store training and involvement;

- to reduce the opportunity to shoplift (to commit theft) through anti-shoplifting techniques, such as preventive measures and design;

- to educate the individual, the community and society as a whole, by means of an intensive media campaign and through the educational system, as to the consequences of shoplifting;

- to promote a larger degree of involvement and responsibility from the justice system in controlling and deterring the shoplifting problem;

- to evaluate the campaign in terms of community support groups.

The project is geared towards prevention, rather than prosecution, and is "total community" oriented, drawing on many representative groups to implement "Operation S.H.O.P."

O.C.C.E. executives stressed that, although they represent nearly sixty Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade in Ontario, the decision on whether to participate in "Operation S.H.O.P." in a community would be made at the local level. The Ontario Chamber of Commerce executives' role will be as co-ordinator and producer of such materials as an audio-visual programme for in-school presentations, radio and television commercials, newspaper advertisements, and to provide guidance to individual Chamber groups in getting the project started. In addition, a special O.C.C.E. committee will make committees available to work with community Chambers of Commerce and Boards of Trade, if needed, to keep the programme going.

A press conference is scheduled for O.C.C.E.'s mid-year meeting, to be held in Brampton in February, 1980, at which time full details of "Operation S.H.O.P." will be made available to the media.

The Ontario Chamber of Commerce Executives Association objectives are to promote ethical standards and efficiency in Chamber of Commerce and Board of Trade management, encourage mutual exchange of information and ideas, and undertake services and activities in the interest of its members.

The only membership requirements are that the individual hold a full-time management position in a Chamber of Commerce or Board of Trade in Ontario.

Requests for disaster assistance will be dealt with at township level in the county of Haliburton. That was the consensus of opinion around the County Council table September 19.

The matter was raised after a number of letters from Ontario municipalities were noted on the agenda. A member of the council suggested that since the same letters had been sent to the townships, that a policy be struck so that only one level of local government respond to these requests. It was pointed out that if both a township council and county council agreed to donate to a particular fund, the taxpayers of the area are making two contributions.

The members of the council agreed to leave the decision of any contribution to disaster funds or other appeals to the townships.

Resolution

The council also rejected a resolution sent by the Chatham City Council. It was suggested that comfort allowances paid to residents of nursing homes to be used to help cover the maintenance costs of those individuals. At the moment it was noted that some residents are unable to pay the full cost of the maintenance while at the same time the province provides them with a $51 per month spending allowance.

The Chatham resolution noted that some residents do not spend this money or, because of their health are unable to spend it, and so the money continues to accumulate in the bank. The Chatham council suggested that once more than $500 has accumulated that any amount in excess of that figure be directed toward maintenance payments.

The Hyland Crest Committee of Management reviewed the resolution and rejected it. The council was told that such a ruling would encourage the residents to spend the allowance, perhaps needlessly, in order to ensure the accumulated amount does not exceed $500. It was felt the allowance belonged to the residents and that they should be allowed to do with it as they please.

It was also pointed out that the home can make a claim against the estate of a resident who has been unable to meet his or her maintenance costs while in the home.

The council accepted the recommendations of the management committee and refused to endorse the resolution.

Townships to handle requests

Fearry wants by-law change

The county council has supported a motion proposed by Dysart Reeve Murray Fearry regarding changes to municipal zoning regulations.

As of the beginning of September municipalities in Ontario with approved official plans may enact zoning changes, if there is no objection, without an Ontario Municipal Board hearing. The change was announced recently by the provincial government to speed the amending procedures.

Reeve Fearry's resolution called on the Ontario government to change that approval to include the provision that would allow those portions of any zoning change to which there is no objection, to proceed while other sections may be held back because of an objection.

The intent would be to eliminate a possible one or two year delay on an entire by-law just because there are objections to just one portion of it.

Fearry told the meeting that on occasion a zoning change by-law has been held up while a hearing is convened because of objections that are not related to the by-law. He told the meeting that this change would permit the municipality to enforce those portions of the by-law which have been accepted by the community while the Ontario Municipal Board deals with those to which there are objections.

The municipality of Dysart et al is the only one in the county which has approved official plan at this time.

The council endorsed the resolution and copy of it will be sent to the Minister of Housing.

the market and there didn't appear to be any need for more land at the moment.

Reynolds said there should be increased emphasis on cross-country skiing in the county. The local spokesmen had sought more financial assistance for the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association. Reynolds said that snowmobiling was giving way to skiing in popularity and that more trails for this purpose should be developed.

It was pointed out that the association now received $59 in government subsidy for each mile of snowmobile trail it maintains. However, according to local spokesman it now costs close to $200 per mile to maintain the trails for a year. It is expected that if this deficit condition continues the number and length of groomed trails in the county will be decreased.

Finally, the deputy minister pledged enthusiastic support for the development of a maple syrup industry in the county. He said various sections of the ministry will be included in any investigation and that the local effort to develop the industry will receive the backing and co-operation of the ministry.

not 7:30 as previously advertised.

Pensions up in October

Increases in the Old Age Security pension, Guaranteed Income Supplement and Spouse's Allowance, effective in October 1979, were announced today by the Honourable Heward Grafftey, Minister of State for Social Programmes on behalf of the Honourable David Crombie, Minister of National Health and Welfare.

The basic Old Age Security pension will rise to $179.02 from the present $174.82.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a single person, or a married pensioner and is not receiving a Spouse's Allowance, will increase to $146.97 from its current $143.53. Added to the basic pension, this gives a person receiving both the OAS and the maximum GIS a monthly total of $325.99.

The maximum Guaranteed Income Supplement for a married couple, both pensioners, will increase to $122.20 each from $119.34. Added to the basic pension this will give each married pensioner receiving the maximum GIS a total of $301.22, or $602.44 for the couple.

The Guaranteed Income Supplement is paid to pensioners whose income, apart from the Old Age Security pension, is limited. The amount of the supplement varies in relation to income.

The maximum Spouse's Allowance will increase to $301.22 from $294.16. The maximum Spouse's Allowance is made up of an amount equivalent to the basic Old Age Security pension and the maximum GIS at the married rate and is paid to persons between 60 and 65 years of age who are married to OAS pensioners and meet residence requirements. Entitlement to a Spouse's Allowance, and the amount paid, is based on yearly income.

Old Age Security pension and Guaranteed Income Supplement payments are increased quarterly based on the cost of living.

Trent Severn Waterway News

September 21 was the first day of autumn and the declining water levels were about normal at 54.2% of maximum (observed September 17). Fall-spawning fish will soon be laying their eggs in some of the Haliburton lakes which we control. To minimize interference with this, we plan to lower the lakes to their winter levels as quickly as possible after Thanksgiving week-end (our customary practice). Excessive rainfall and/or too much stored water could hamper this, so we try to ensure that after Labour day week-end, the reservoir lake levels are not being held too high.

Similarly, the Kawartha lakes levels are allowed to recede to mid-range at this time of year, as a precaution against heavy rains. The past week, this buffer allowed them to absorb rainfall from tropical storm Frederick with only a modest increase in outflow. At this time of year, the evaporation is lower than in the summer so the most likely events to require flow adjustments are for rainfalls.

Another season for Kinettes has started and we have a very busy season planned. Please watch this column for some of the old familiar things we do, like our Valentine Dance, and some new ideas we will be proposing. Without your support, our motto "Serving the Community's Greatest Needs" would never be realised.

Kinnettes is a service organization, not just a social club, as too many people think. Therefore, just to help you realise that we did live up to our "motto", here are a few of the other organisations etc., that we supported last year. To the Cystic Research Foundation, we pledged $300 and donated $325; to Community Services we pledged $185 and donated $200; to International Relations $30; miscellaneous (needy families at Christmas etc.) $84.32 and last but not least we pledged $300 to the Kinsmen and donated $1,000.

This pledge was to be used to help with the cost of the "Participark" which when completed, will be a great asset to our community.

A booklet dedicated to baby's sleep habits. How to deal with baby's night wakings, nightmares, etc. Remember, it's best to start bedtime routines early in baby's life. This folder is a good place to begin.

Playing and learning (toddlers and infants) ☐

Infants and toddlers love to explore. Play-and-learn games are key ingredients to a healthy, positive child-parent relationship: doing, touching, tasting, and dramatic play. Also, "nursery songs", "finger and toe games", "story telling" and "mayonnaise painting". Play-and-learn games help baby's general development!

Aggression is natural ☐

Children go through the same feelings of frustration and anger as you do. And sometimes it's hard to get a handle on the hostility your child is experiencing. With a little self-control, love and the advice contained in this folder, you can make your child's aggressive tendencies a positive form of self-expression.

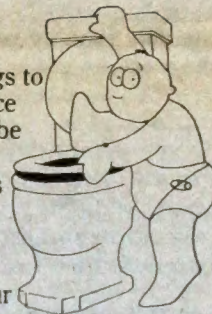

Jealousy ☐

It's practically impossible to prevent your older child from growing suspicious when a strange new baby arrives in the home. Help your child overcome these feelings by knowing about them before they happen. "What to do when baby arrives?", "special treats", and "shared caring" are just a few of the sensible suggestions this pamphlet offers. Prepare your child before the second baby comes along.

Toilet training ☐

Some helpful do's, don'ts and things to remember when it's time to produce the potty. Toilet training need not be inconvenient, embarrassing, frustrating or disappointing. Here's an effective guide to build your confidence in coping with this complicated issue! Minimize the child's problems and maximize your confidence.

Freedom to grow ☐

Psychologists believe that children should try to learn new skills naturally. Kids want to do things for themselves but can be discouraged when over-protected. We all want our children to grow up to be responsible, independent adults. This helpful folder can serve as an excellent guide along the way.

Discipline ☐

Discipline is confusing to many. Some feel it is wrong to be angry with a child. Discipline, however, is necessary to a healthy parent-child relationship. Ideally, discipline helps a child become self-confident and, more importantly, self-disciplined. Although there are no pat answers, this folder offers some reasonable suggestions, when your child becomes unreasonable.

Children are people. ☐

The importance of praise and encouragement, consistency in discipline, and the gift of love are discussed. The "child as a person" theory is examined with special emphasis on the early development of a positive parent-child relationship.

Not far enough

While the efforts of the Ministry of Transportation and Communications in improving the standards of Highway 121 between Minden and Haliburton are appreciated, we feel the ministry has not gone far enough.

At an information session held earlier this month, the ministry laid out its intentions for improving the highway between the two communities. Included in the proposed work will be the paving of the shoulder portion of the highway on some curves, the realignment of a number of curves and the elimination of some of the dips in the roadway. The work is to be carried out over a five year time period.

Anyone who travels the road on a regular basis is well aware of the increasing amount of traffic Highway 121 is now carrying. It is not only during the summer months, when the highway is a major artery for tourist traffic, that the heavy traffic flow can be noted, but all year as well.

Highway 121 has become an important link between the two communities of Haliburton and Minden.

For this reason the Ministry of Transportation and Communications should reconsider the piecemeal approach it is taking to road maintenance. What is needed is a major overhaul of the entire length of the highway.

While we are aware the ministry must set priorities on province-wide basis, we feel this twisting and hilly highway needs immediate consideration. Even with today's reduced speed limits, Highway 121 is a dangerous stretch of road to travel, especially at night.

It is a sure bet that once the MTC completes the proposed repairs and improvements to the highway, it won't be found on the top of the list for a long time to come. The highway needs straightening and, in places, widening if it is to be a safe route to travel. That work should not be put off to some later, unknown, date.

REPORT FROM QUEEN'S PARK

By John Eakins, M.P.P.

I hope that the Ontario government will add up the pluses and minuses of the recently concluded Tokyo round of negotiations on the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and call on Ottawa to assist industry to adjust effectively to the new trading environment. Industry & Tourism minister Larry Grossman has complimented the Trudeau government on the GATT outcome for manufacturing in Canada's most industrialised province. "There are, of course, some disappointments and dangers for some sectors," Mr. Grossman said. "The key objective now is to ensure adequate government assistance to enable those adversely affected to adjust and survive and to enable our manufacturing sector generally to capitalise on the new export opportunities. I have faith in the ability of our manufacturing sector to survive and thrive, given adequate government support and assistance."

The minister stated to the effect that the open and constructive consultation process established by the federal government under Pierre Trudeau should become a permanent feature of trade and industrial policy development in Canada. During the next eight years while the new lower tariff structures are being phased in by the world's trading nations, Ontario will be looking for the federal government to become much more aggressive and active in providing adjustment assistance and safeguards to the manufacturing sector.

The effective exclusion of textiles, clothing and footwear by most industrialised countries from all but minimal tariff cuts could be of particular interest to eastern Ontario. Northern Ontario, with 25 per cent of Canada's employment in the pulp and paper industry, would benefit from greatly improved market access for paper and paper products in the United States, European Economic Community and Japan. A number of key U.S. concessions on chemical products would benefit producers in southwestern Ontario, as would improved tariff treatment in the U.S. and/or the EEC of agricultural products such as corn, white beans, tobacco and processed foodstuffs such as biscuits, cakes, confectionery, canned corn and processed meats.

There are improved trading prospects with the U.S. It is estimated that by 1988, Canadian manufacturers would have duty-free access into the American market for about 80% of all exports to that country, compared to 66% at present. On the minus side, concessions by the EEC and Japan were less than hoped for, but some market opportunities for Ontario have opened up in aerospace, avionics and forest products sectors. It is regretted that tariff cuts in petrochemicals and iron and steel were smaller because of existing global overcapacity. It is also pointed out that certain sectors of the Ontario economy would be exposed to greater competitive pressures from abroad. These would likely include certain types of furniture manufacturers, plastic fabricators, toy and game producers, glass products and major and small appliance manufacturers.

I hope to further discuss this in future news columns.

(The tax credit on any amount of mortgage interest up to $5000 is calculated the same way. In the taxation year 1982 when it is fully in effect, the credit will be equal to 25% of the interest. In this taxation year, 1979, the tax credit will be one-quarter of this 25%, increasing successively by one-quarter in each taxation year up to 1982.)

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

by William C. Scott, M.P.

The Property Tax Credit (PTC), which will be a flat $250 in 1982 when the plan is fully in effect, will be similarly phased in in quarterly segments over the next four years. For 1979 a homeowner will therefore receive a Property Tax Credit of $62.50. This will increase to $125.00 in 1980, to $187.50 in 1981 and to the full $250 in 1982.

The mortgage interest that will be eligible for the tax credit will be that incurred on all loans, whether secured by the home of the taxpayer or not, outstanding on or before September 17, 1979, to the extent that they were used to finance the acquisition of, or major alteration or addition to, the home of the taxpayer or his or her spouse.

The interest on all loans taken out after September 17, 1979, that are in the form of a mortgage or similar debt obligation secured by the home of the taxpayer or his or her spouse and that are used to finance the acquisition of, or major alteration or addition to, the home, will also be eligible for the Mortgage Interest Credit. The interest on loans to renew or refinance these previous loans, taken out for the same purpose (the acquisition of, or major alteration or addition to, a home) will also be eligible. Such loans taken out after September 17, 1979, would of course, have to be in the form of a mortgage or similar debt obligation secured by the home in order to qualify for the Mortgage Tax Credit on the interest. (Alterations or additions costing less than $5000 will not be considered as major for the purposes of this measure and will not qualify, nor will house furnishings and normal repair and maintenance expenditures, such as those for painting and redecorating).

Mainstream Canada

A Difficult State of Affairs

By W. Roger Worth

When governments get involved in areas of the economy normally handled by private entrepreneurs, funny (and not so funny) things have a way of happening.

Consider the plight of beleaguered restaurant, bar and hotel operators in tiny Prince Edward Island, a province where tourism is the mainstay of the local economy.

It appears P.E.I.'s Liquor Control Commission has difficulty handling even the simplest of tasks, such as maintaining stocks of the limited number of wines listed by the government-operated facility.

Fallout from that situation naturally presents very real wines aren't available. In addition, shortages sometimes necessitate costly reprinting of wine lists.

In normal business circumstances, restaurateurs would simply change suppliers, but such is not the case when the government is the only source of alcoholic beverages.

Further, it becomes difficult for restaurant operators to complain, given the fact that the same liquor commission enforces all rules and regulations for licensed premises.

"It's a Catch-22," says a bar manager. "We can't complain about the wine problem because we're afraid of being hassled by liquor commission inspectors."

-An unhealthy situation indeed.

The wine difficulties in Prince Edward Island are not unlike situations in other provinces and sectors of the economy where the government has its finger in the private-enterprise pie.

And business people, especially smaller entrepreneurs with little clout, are many times forced to live with the status quo. Not a pretty state of affairs at all.

Editor:

I would like to thank you for your fair reporting of the article September 19, re "Objection to Snow Dumping." It is unfortunate that an offer made in good faith without obligation or ulterior motive to the municipality is misconstrued as looking for something for nothing or subsidizing a particular business by an individual or individuals.

The practice of piling snow on private property in this municipality is not isolated to one property owner, it is done in several locations around Minden and it has been the practice for years. To my knowledge, as it has been explained, this has saved the municipality time and money in snow removal, it has helped prevent a great deal of unnecessary pollution of Gull River by not dumping snow, gravel, salt and debris into the river. The snow is piled in areas where other property owners are not directly affected, the only person directly affected is the individual property owner allowing the practice.

During the winter of 1978-79, I was informed by several people that one or two individuals who they would not name, were complaining bitterly that the municipality was clearing the snow from my parking lot. This was the final event in a series of rumours that prompted me to approach Council and openly inform them that if they wished to continue the practice of snow piling at the back of my parking lot, there was no objection on my behalf, and that I would be willing to sign an agreement as such. Council and the municipality employees have never been asked to, nor will they ever be asked to plough out or remove snow from my parking lot - that is my responsibility. No one argues with the fact that in pushing snow collected from the street in the proximity of the bridge to the end of my lot, a portion of the snow in my parking lot is collected and pushed back. It too, is a fact, that a portion of the snow on the lot is removed by myself.

I should also like to point out that every winter, using my snow blower, I clean the sidewalk and the snowplough comb on the street, away from the front of my property and where possible, blow the snow on my lawn as it is usually late morning or early afternoon before the work crews are able to get to this area. I also proceed to clear out my parking lot at my own expense. The municipality is not expected to reimburse me for clearing the snow on the street.

The funeral home parking lot has been the subject of several rumours drawn to my attention. During the sewer project and the County road project, I gave permission for storage of heavy equipment etc., to those concerned as a convenience. All I have ever requested is that it be left in the original condition. It has not been (as has been suggested) improved at the taxpayers' expense!

The funeral home parking lot was established primarily for visitors to the funeral home and when not in use, for such purposes has been freely opened to patrons of the businesses surrounding my establishment. I would hope that this co-operative environment remains unchanged.

240 riders compete in enduro-- 'Winkie' wins again

Dave Dodd Jr., better known in the fast spinning circles of enduro racing as "Winkie", has again captured top spot in his class during the Corduroy Enduro held this past weekend in Haliburton County. Dave, who is 17 years of age, captured first place in the expert class for 200 cc motorcycles. Last year he was also best in his category.

The annual event, held here for the eighth time, drew over 240 riders to test their skills and endurance against a winding twisting path through the county, covering close to 300 miles.

The enduro has become the highlight of cross country motorcycle rallies in Canada as well as the United States. Many of the weekend participants came from south of the border to take part in the rally. Included in that number were John and Beth Cooper from Columbus, New Jersey. John took the overall championship of the day while his wife was first in the ladies' division.

The team competition was won by a trio from Orangeville, the Halton Riders, while second place went to three riders from Maryland.

According to the organizers and the participants, the weekend was a great success. The riders were pleased with the difficulty and length of the course and the organizers expressed their pleasure at the warm welcome accorded the group by area residents. The rally was headquartered at Locarno on the Lake Lodge on the north shore of Lake Kashagawigamog.

The photos on this page offer a glimpse of some of the action along the trail and at the rally headquarters.

A columnist, like an editorial writer, lives in fear that the day will come when he'll sit down to stare at a blank paper in a silent typewriter without inspiration to activate his fingers. This week it's my turn to face that dilemma.

Just a few days ago, one of my editors asked if I could possibly get this column back on a weekly production basis. I said that I thought I could and more or less promised to do so. In his next breath, the same editor wondered aloud how we snowmobilers could manage to be thinking snow and snowmobile trails while the trees are still wearing their summer green. Today I might find it a little difficult to provide a convincing reply, and that, dear reader, is to be the subject matter of this week's column.

I look outside and see the sun is shining. It's Sunday. It's September. It's not cold nor is it uncomfortably warm. It's just a grand sort of day to be poking about in the woods with a roll of coloured tape laying out a new trail to somewhere, perhaps another bypass for a section of plowed road or a dryland circuit around a beaverpond. But it won't get done today for lethargy has set in. The kitchen door that's been sticking for weeks may get fixed, the old dog may get his itching ears scratched, and this column may get written but that's about the extent of a snowmobiler's enthusiasm in September. Besides, if we put it off until next month, maybe old reliable "George" will get it done.

The trouble is, old George is not so reliable anymore. And even he is not totally immune to the lethargy bug.

In a snowmobiler organization, particularly a trail-building area promoting association like the H.C.S.A., we cannot afford an overdose of complacency at this or any other time. To stand still is actually to slide backwards for while we hesitate the rest of the world moves on around us. We may take pride in past accomplishments, we may even convince ourselves that the facilities we've provided are second to none, but if we become completely satisfied that all is done that needs to be done we will find ourselves in serious trouble.

It probably matters whether we do it today, next week, or the week after that, what's important is that we recognise there is still a job to be done, and when the opportune time comes that we put our hearts and our backs into it.

The first and most important job that faces us at this time, is the overhaul and rejuvenation of the Haliburton County Snowmobile Association. The opportune time is Saturday, October 6.

Much of the overhauling should, and I believe must, come from within the organisation, from the members, by their active participation in this general meeting. These members should not be so complacent as to simply attend and listen (or to stay home and read about it in the next club newsletter), they should be there to speak their minds on every issue of concern and to elect a board of directors who will lead the organisation in the way that it should go. Voting is not just a privilege of membership, it should be regarded as a membership duty.

The meeting - October 6, 7.00 p.m. in the Minden Arena Auditorium - is open as well to the business community and all concerned citizens.

Planning strategy approved

A development strategy for Haliburton County was accepted at the September 19 meeting of the County Council.

The strategy will form a framework for future growth and development in the county. While the document does not have the status of an official plan, it does represent a careful examination of various factors and can serve as the basis for goals and objectives in the county.

A senior planner with the consulting firm, Totten, Sims, Hubicki Associates John McDermott told the meeting Wednesday that the plan had been reviewed by over 50 provincial ministries and agencies. McDermott said that while some had comments to make on the proposal, only the Ministry of Natural Resources had any major objections to certain portions of the strategy. The MNR concerns centred mainly on forestry in the county.

McDermott said he was pleased with the speed with which the various government agencies dealt with the document. He noted it had only taken 12 months for all sectors of the provincial government to consider the material and offer an opinion. The speed with which the agencies acted, in his estimation, was very rapid.

The planner told the members of the County Council not to consider the document as the final word on development in Haliburton. He says it forms a framework for decisions but that the contents should be reviewed from time to time to ensure they still reflect the direction and wishes of county residents.

The planner then reviewed a number of modifications which had been requested by the Ministry of Natural Resources. The final draft of the changes had been hammered out at a series of meetings between the planning group and the ministry.

McDermott said, if the document had one shortcoming it was that it did not include the township of Dysart et al. These municipalities had proceeded to prepare their own official plan for development and while the two plans in many ways compliment each other, the planner expressed the hope that in the future the entire county will come under one official plan or planning strategy.

He noted that once the document is accepted by the county council it would be presented to the Minister of Housing for his approval. That is expected to be given by the start of next month.

When that is done, all ministries in Ontario will be notified of the formal acceptance of the strategy so they will be aware of the direction in which the county is moving and tailor their own policies to this end.

Grant Morris, a planner with the Ministry of Housing echoed those comments. He told the members of the council that the next step for the body is to find methods to implement the recommendations contained in the strategy.

Anson, Hindon and Minden Reeve Sinclair Nesbitt, who chaired the committee which dealt with the requests for changes described the process as a "struggle". He pointed out that the strategy represented many long hours of meetings by the planning committee and noted the contribution of Dysart Reeve Murray Feary in helping to interpret the plan. Nesbitt said he looked for the day that the official plan of Dysart and the planning strategy become one document.

With the exception of one minor outstanding issue, the members of the county council then accepted the planning strategy by a unanimous vote.

by Ron Reid of the Federation of Ontario Naturalists

As you whizz along 401 east of Oshawa, you catch a glint of reflected sunlight from a marsh stretching down towards Lake Ontario. On country roads near Guelph, you pass through the shadowy arches of soft maple and admire the green profusion of the crowded ferns below. Amongst the flat cornfields near Lake St. Clair, you find tattered pockets of cattails.

All these are threatened wetlands - one of Ontario's most underrated resources. Since the time of first settlement, we have been draining, filling and dredging wetlands, with the results that 60 - 75 per cent of Southern Ontario's original wetland acreage has been lost. Their destruction continues, but the Federation of Ontario Naturalists is urging that we take a second look at their value.

A marsh could be described as an oasis of life. Wetlands are among the most productive ecosystems in the world. A freshwater swamp or marsh can produce an average of 2000 grams of growing plants per square metre each year. Compare that figure with lakes and streams at 500, and agricultural land at about 650.

That productivity shows itself in the number and diversity of wetland wildlife. Millions of mosquitoes, yes, but also millions of other predatory insects and birds that help keep the mosquito population in balance. All of Ontario's waterfowl rely on wetlands for their habitat, as do dozens of other species of birds. Frogs, toads, and other amphibians, all insect eaters, also depend on wetlands. Most of southern Ontario's mammals, from muskrat to white-tail deer, use wetlands during at least part of the year.

No wonder a prominent Ontario biologist could proclaim: "Wildlife and wetlands in southern Ontario are almost synonymous. Without wetlands, the diversity and numbers of wildlife that we have today, simply could not exist."

The water-holding capacity of wetlands is also important. Because their peaty soils act like a giant sponge, wetlands can store flood waters and gradually release them later in the season, thus reducing the damaging effects of floods and maintaining summer flows in streams. Some wetlands allow stored waters to percolate downwards into the ground water, assuring a steady supply to neighboring wells.

The value of wetlands in protecting waters and wildlife is often overlooked because it is provided free of charge, and assigning a price tag is difficult. But some other functions have been evaluated on a dollar basis and I'll explore those next week.

Grandparents on wheels

It is difficult to imagine that the words "grandmother" or "grandfather" would go together easily with the word motorcycle.

It is even more difficult to imagine the connection when the motorcycle is part of the noisy, dirty, gut-wrenching sport of cross-country riding. But such was the case this weekend during the Corduroy Enduro held in Haliburton County.

The grand champion of the 300 mile cross country endurance test is a grandfather, albeit a young one at 43 years.

John Cooper from Columbus, New Jersey was named champion of the weekend after the scores were tallied late Sunday afternoon. His wife Beth, also a grandparent, came first in the ladies division. She is 41 years of age.

The two have been riding for seven years and thoroughly enjoy the sport. As one talks with them their enthusiasm for the cross-country bone-rattling activity is catching.

"It is pushing yourself to the limit," John says, as we talked after the trophy presentations Sunday night.

"I like the sport because you are always testing just how far you will go. There is an exhilaration to it, an excitement that is hard to describe."

The couple spend most of their spare time involved in some aspect of the sport. The season starts for them in their home community in early April and will last until November. "Each weekend we are out at an enduro," Beth explains. "If we can't get on the bikes and ride we get a feeling of being cooped up, of being out of touch with something we both enjoy."

The Haliburton run holds a special appeal for both of them. John has been attending since 1977 and this is the second year for Beth. "We find this event to be one of the major highlights of the riding season," John said. It must be, because the Coopers have to re-arrange their work schedule, spend close to $1000 for themselves and their crew to attend and travel all the way from New Jersey to take part. Not only that, but there are no cash prizes to help lighten the burden of those who travel so far, only the satisfaction of having participated and, for the lucky few, a handsome trophy for the mantle at home.

"Enduro people are the greatest people in the world," John says enthusiastically. "Each year when I come here or to other meets in the U.S. I'm always meeting old friends and making new ones. You won't find a friendlier bunch of people in the world than those who ride in enduros."

Will he be back next year? "You're darn right I'll be back," he declares. "I've got two of these logs at home," referring to the trophies, "and I think I want another." His wife echoes his enthusiasm.

Beth says, "You know, there are times when you're up to your knees in mud, you're soaking wet and you ache all over. There you are in the middle of some bush wasting precious seconds as you struggle to get your bike free. You're cursing everything that has to do with bikes and this sport and wishing you were back at home with your feet up. But when the rally is over and you have an opportunity to relive the excitement, frustration and fun of the whole thing, it becomes a sport you just can't walk away from. You're darn right we'll be back."

way one can read of the efforts of the early settlers without being filled with admiration for them and contempt for the conditions from which they were striving to escape.

Contribution.

In checking the records, it is of some interest to note the participation of the Sawyer family in the affairs of the county and of Stanhope Township. Mr. Ben Sawyer was reeve of Stanhope for some twenty-eight years of which twenty-six were consecutive years. Mr. Gordon Sawyer (Pete) was the next of this family to serve the community, then the present reeve, Jim Harrison, a grandson of Ben Sawyer and a nephew of Gordon (Pete) Sawyer.

Thus it can be said that this bloodline has served in the position of reeve, for almost a third of the time that this township has existed, and each of them has served the county as warden.

Rock concert cancelled

There will be no rock concert at the Minden arena Thanksgiving weekend.

The decision to withdraw the local facility as a venue for the event was taken at the September 20 meeting of the Minden Recreation Committee. The decision was unanimous.

Corporal Ron Foran and Constable Garry Chapman of the Minden detachment of the Ontario Provincial Police attended the meeting. They described the events that took place at a concert Labour Day weekend at the same facility.

At that time a police cruiser was damaged when empty bottles were hurled at it. The rear window of the vehicle was broken by one of the flying bottles. In addition, the officers on the scene were subjected to verbal abuse by a number of patrons at the concert.

The officers expressed concern for the safety of the policemen who are in attendance. In addition the policemen indicated that a large number of innocent individuals could be hurt if a serious incident should occur at a concert.

It was pointed out to the members of the committee that additional staff to police the rock concerts are not available and that they felt the last concert, planned for October should be cancelled.

In the discussion that followed, it was pointed out that the concert provided an activity for the young people of Haliburton County and the committee should take this aspect into consideration before taking action.

In a recorded vote, all five members of the committee agreed with the police, and permission to hold the concert at the Minden arena was withdrawn.

Committee member Stuart Brandon agreed to contact the promoter and inform him of the committee's decision. It was suggested that if the promoter considered legal action against the committee or municipality for breach of contract, that he be advised to contact the municipality's solicitor.

Brandon said earlier this week that while the promoter was upset when informed of the decision of the committee he did not anticipate any legal problems.

STANHOPE NOTES

by A. F. Stevenson

During the past summer, some details of the history of Stanhope township were compiled by Kim Gorveat, assisted by Karen Wedman and Godfrey Tyler. It is to this work that the writer owes a debt for the following facts.

In 1867, Mr. J. Melville became the first reeve of Stanhope while Mr. George Rowe was the clerk of the township, the property assessment was $8596.00 and the taxes collected amounted to $213.33 and there were only 51 ratepayers.

It has to be remembered that many of the ratepayers worked for the township instead of paying taxes.

During its history, Stanhope faced two serious health problems, one of epidemic proportions in 1896 when Diphtheria threatened to ravage the area and again in 1904 when a near epidemic of Smallpox developed. In each case, all public functions were cancelled including school attendance and some private homes were used for hospitals to meet the emergencies. In 1867, the most prominent causes of death were tuberculosis, scarlet fever and broken blood vessels. After studying the history of the area, we can well understand the latter category, having in mind the gigantic efforts put forth to clear the land and build a home. It was not only the men who suffered, as the women often had to put their shoulders to the plow to help prepare the land. There is no

County supports Metro police, OPP

The Metropolitan Toronto Police and the Ontario Provincial Police received a vote of support from the Haliburton County Council this past week. The council endorsed two resolutions indicating their support for the forces and the work they are doing.

The resolutions, moved by Major Lewis, Deputy Reeve of Lutterworth Township, and Ron Gambell, Reeve of the same township, were prompted by criticisms directed at the police forces.

The resolutions, both identically worded, noted that criticism of the action of and procedures of the forces had been voiced from various sources and the council felt the criticism is unjustified, unwarranted and detrimental to the operation of the forces. "Therefore this council wishes to affirm its support for the police forces in the performance of their duties," the resolution concluded.

Lewis said he had initiated the action because of the critical letters appearing in the Toronto press recently about the actions of the police force.

One member of council wondered out loud how the Haliburton council came to be involved with the Toronto Police force.

However Gambell pointed out that many Toronto residents use this area as a vacation destination and that we were closely tied to the Toronto community through that contact.

Lewis told the meeting that he had many years of experience working with police forces combating terrorism. He said such a problem does not exist in Canada now, but that we should not be lulled into a false sense of security. He said the tendency now is to criticize the police forces of Canada and not to support them. "If we do not support the law, the results will be the same as in Northern Ireland," Lewis told the meeting. He said the Ontario forces are also being hurt by financial restraint.

Cardiff Township Reeve Meredith Amm said the service of the Ontario Provincial Police in his part of the county had not been what he considered the best. He said he was not being critical of individual officers, but rather of those who establish the system under which the OPP operates.

Amm cited a number of incidents in his municipality as examples. He said there had been times in the community when police assistance had been required in the community and a call was made to the Bancroft detachment. "Bancroft is just eight miles away," he explained. "However we were advised that our community was not within the Bancroft detachment's area and that we would have to call Apsley which is 25 miles away."

Amm also related that there had been some vandalism and problems at the swimming pool during the summer and the town supervisor was asked to investigate. The supervisor sought the assistance of a number of OPP officers from the Bancroft detachment who are resident in the community, but they refused to accompany him because they were off duty. "If this is proper administration of our Ontario Provincial Police, I cannot back this resolution."

Dysart Reeve Murray Feary said the Cardiff council should take its complaints about police coverage to the proper authorities and that it was not right to cast doubt on the service provided in all parts of the county. Amm agreed, saying that they were problems being experienced on a local basis but ones that were troublesome enough that he could not support the resolution.

Five break-ins in Haliburton

A series of break-ins, including a forced entry into the post office, has plagued Haliburton Village this past week. According to police five break-ins occurred in the community between September 15 and 18.

The break-ins at the Haliburton post office took place during the weekend of September 15. The intruders entered the lobby area of the building and were able to remove an inside door from the hinges, gaining access to the post office.

Police report that the only thing taken was approximately $3 in cash which was removed from a purse left in the building by a staff member.

The OPP investigation is being carried out by Constable Al Bibby.

The same constable is also investigating a break-in on the same date at the Haliburton Laundromat owned by Richard Biagi. The intruders gained access to the workshop area by slipping a lock. They made off with a set of tools and a tool box valued at $400.

From the Laundromat the thieves were able to gain access through an unlocked door to the Haliburton Hairdressing Salon owned by Marion Teatro. Taken from those premises was cash, hair shears and scissors valued at $100.

The Laundromat was used again to gain access to Bruce's Barber Shop owned by Bruce Sawyer. In that incident $150 worth of cigarettes were removed from the store.

In the other incident in Haliburton, two 16 year old youths have been charged with break, and enter, with the intent to steal.

Police report the home of Ronald Grant was entered September 18 shortly before 2:00 p.m. An unlocked basement window was used to gain access to the home. John Curry and a number of other men who were working in the area at the time noticed the activity and notified police.

Charged are Drayton S. Bonyun of Haliburton and Robert S. Miller, R.R. 1 Minden.

Four charged after theft

Quick action by neighbours resulted in four charges of break, enter and theft being laid following a series of break-ins in the Mountain Lake area.

Three residences on the lake were broken into September 18 at approximately 7 p.m. Neighbours noted the activity and notified the OPP who then stopped a car as it drove through Minden and charged the four occupants.

The homes were owned by William Whittall of Minden, Helen Brown of Oshawa and William Skuce of Oshawa. The intruders caused $200 damage and made off with $250 worth of stolen property.

Charged with three counts of break, enter and theft and possession of stolen property were Randall Steven Steele, 22, of Toronto, Michael Kenneth Phillips, 17, of Keswick, Gary Brian McKend, 21, of Toronto and Brenda Brideau, 16, of Keswick.

Police have also laid a charge of possession of a prohibited weapon after a sawed-off shotgun was found in the car with the accused. The gun was 16 inches in total length, 10 inches short of the 26 inch minimum.

Constable Barry Connelly is investigating the incidents.

Assault

A Stayner, Ontario man will appear in Minden court October 9 on a charge of assault causing bodily harm following an incident at the Schnitzel House restaurant, on the Minden by-pass.

George R. Westman, 40, of R.R. 1 Stayner was charged by Minden OPP September 21.

According to the police, Westman had been asked to leave the restaurant by the

Three singles

There were three automobile accidents during the last reporting week, according to details provided by the Minden OPP, all of them involving single cars.

The first took place September 15 on the Otter Lake Road. Orval Foster, 22, of Wilberforce was north-bound on the road when the 1978 vehicle he was driving entered the east ditch and rolled over. Damage to the car was estimated at $2000. Constable Ron Buchanan investigated.

South of Minden

Judith Horsley, 20, of Minden was the driver of a car that left Highway 35, south of the community. The 1977 model vehicle rolled over after the driver lost control of it. The accident occurred September 18 and resulted in $3500 damage to the car. Constable Bob Pearson investigated the mishap.

Poste haste

While a rural mail box couldn't stop him, a Richmond Hill driver discovered that Haliburton trees are no easy push over.

Wayne J. Donnelly, 26, was the driver of a car that left the Hawk Lake Road September 23, shearing off a mail box and post and finally coming to a stop at the foot of a tree. The driver was not injured, however the 1976 model vehicle sustained $1000 damage and the mail box was valued at $40.

Constable Boyd Jarvis was the investigating officer.

Council endorses resolution

Haliburton County Council has agreed with a resolution of the town of Hawkesbury that daylight savings time start a month earlier each year.

The Hawkesbury resolution suggested that if April were included in daylight savings time there would be a savings in energy costs. Daylight savings time now starts on the last weekend in April.

The change would mean a longer period of daylight during the time most people are active. The result would be a reduction in the use of lighting, heat and other energy consumption.

The council concurred with the resolution without comment. A letter will be sent to the Minister of Energy indicating the council's support of the proposition.

140 at Soyer's picnic

Close to 140 people were on hand for the fourth annual corn and weiner roast sponsored by the Soyers Lake Ratepayers Association. The event capped another summer of activity on the lake with canoe races and a sailboat regatta being held prior to the picnic outing.

The annual event was held August 25.

The roast was held at Elstone Flats, next to Lakeview Lodge. The events of the day were co-ordinated by Gordon Ogg with a number of other ratepayers assisting with details.

Following the evening meal, the group gathered around a giant bonfire for a sing-along led by Bob Thompson and David Pengelly.

Letters from Lorraine

Ingoldsby high school student, Lorraine Perry, is now in her second month as an exchange student in Belgium. She left in August as part of a program sponsored by Rotary International and the local club.

Her parents have agreed to share some of her experiences with our readers through the letters she sends home. The following are some excerpts from a letter sent September 6.

I hope you liked your handkerchiefs. I must explain that Belgium is very well-known for its lace and crystal. Because a crystal piece would not fit in an envelope, I had to send you a sample of lace.

I went to a little market in Bruges, Belgium where they were selling antiques, old things etc., (flea market) and saw a lady who was making lace. They do it so fast and so well.

The food here is not too much different, but there are some things that are different. The water is bottled, they don't drink milk as Canadians do and there is much cheese and chocolate here. There is no such thing as sliced white bread as we know it. It is all crusty, round or Italian bread - it is delicious.

Everything is made from scratch.

No household buys "instant" goods. The coffee is all ground-I have yet to see a jar of instant coffee. The price of gas is $3.60 Canadian. All of the cars are very small.

I am not sure if anyone told you, but I am going to a Roman Catholic church every Sunday at 8 a.m. It is quite different, especially because it is in French. It lasts about 30-45 mins. I will also be going to a Roman Catholic school with boys and girls.

I have been to many interesting places including the Royal Palace. My host sister and I took a guided tour, it was very interesting. Everything in Belgium is so old. The ballroom was gorgeous. There were 17 gigantic chandeliers made of crystal that were 12 feet across and 28 smaller ones made of crystal that measured 5 feet wide. The floor was made of 4 kinds of wood placed in magnificent designs, e.g. flowers, coats of arms etc. It was gorgeous. There was another room that I really loved, it was called the room of marble. Everything in it was made of green (dark), wine colour and black marble.

There were two large fireplaces at the ends of the room. They were monstrous. I cannot describe in words how beautiful it was.

I have shown pictures of the family to people here and they can't believe how young and healthy everyone looks. The compliments go to you.

I recently bicycled to an old school which has been fixed up nicely for senior citizens. Anyway, there I visited a museum of the Congo in Africa, and Brazil. There were many interesting things - all very old of course.

The land in Belgium is very much like Haliburton. I have not yet seen one piece of land which is not used for something. The amount of farmland is incredible. They grow wheat and plants for sugar mostly.

There are 5 main big forests in Belgium. They range in area but the size of the trees is interesting. Since it rains so much, the trees may be fairly young, but they grow so very tall. You never see any fall trees. The forests are tid well looked after protected by the of Belgium.

SENIOR LEAGUE

by Linda English

The sun shone beautifully on the weekend, bringing many visitors to Hyland Crest.

Monday morning began as usual with Fun and Fitness and we are very happy to note that more wheel chair residents are taking part in this program. The ladies worked on their crafts until teatime and afterwards we decided to go for a walk as the weather was still lovely. Mrs. Avery and Mrs. Miller got together and reminisced about Scotland, where they were both born, and they even sang a few Scottish tunes as we walked.

Tuesday morning several residents went to the Chapel to join in worship with Rev. Douglas Miller of Minden United Church. Mr. Fred Ballard played the organ and we sang some old familiar hymns. Movie time in the afternoon brought us two very interesting films - "Muskie Fever",

Concert cancelled

The concert of Haitian singers and dancers scheduled for Hyland Crest Thursday afternoon has been cancelled.

Officials at the Minden home informed The Times that the performers called earlier this week to say they would be unable to attend because of an engagement in Winnipeg.

The group, which promised a selection of Creole music from their native island, is on a tour of Canada in support of the International Child Care foundation. There was no indication of whether another suitable date could be found for a visit by the group.

all about the huge game fish which had the gentlemen reliving some happy days and "The Welcome Season", a movie which was made in New Brunswick. We were very enthused about the beauty of Canada's picture province.

Wednesday morning Amelia Good was the winner at Roll the Ball with a score of 90 points. After lunch the gentlemen gathered with with Lloyd Coleman for Carpet Bowling while the ladies worked on their crafts. They got together for tea and goodies later and just before supper, we gathered in the main lounge for an old fashioned sing-song.

The Ladies of the L.O.B.A. in Haliburton made our Thursday afternoon tea party a delight. We wish to thank these people for making the afternoon so enjoyable and for the lovely assortment of sandwiches and cookies they supplied.

Thursday evening the Kinsmen were back with us to call Bingo, the residents really enjoy these evenings and we have quite a few lucky winners.

Doris was back Friday to play piano for us and we tried a new song with exercises. In the afternoon, we gathered in the main lounge and spent a very enjoyable afternoon singing together around the piano bringing to a close another week at Hyland Crest.

Up In the air

A member of the Brock High School Bulldogs, in white uniform, juggles the ball on the goal line as members of the Haliburton Highland Redmen senior football team also reach for the pigskin. The action was part of the first football encounter for the school teams this year, played Thursday afternoon in Haliburton. The seniors dominated the visitors taking a 15-1 decision.

Haliburton High School report

The following report from Haliburton Highlands Secondary School was prepared by the principal, T.B. Mosgrove.

I know from personal experience in Haliburton and elsewhere that changes in education during the past decade have resulted in some confusion and misunderstanding of Ontario's educational programs. Specifically, diploma requirements for graduation from high school need continual explanation. Thus, I have included this as one of the first topics in this series.

Secondary School Diploma requirements are described by the Ministry of Education in a publication called Circular H.S.I. This booklet is published yearly, or every two years and the purpose of H.S.I. is to set forth policies and requirements governing secondary school diplomas as prescribed by the Ministry of Education.

Most adults are very familiar with the branch and program structure of the 1960's and earlier. Students in those years enrolled in one of three branches called: Arts & Science, Business and Commerce, and Science, Technology & Trades, and in each case in either a five-year or four-year program.

As of September 1, 1972, Secondary School Graduation Diplomas of the branch and program type were no longer issued. Ontario would now be on a credit system. Many changes and modifications have been made since the introduction of the credit system in 1972. To avoid confusion I will focus upon requirements as described in Circular H.S.I., 1979-81.

A credit is granted in recognition of the successful completion of a course for which a minimum of 110 hours has been scheduled. All courses are assigned to one or more of four broad areas of study; an area of study may be described as a broad segment of knowledge and inquiry. These are: communications, social and environmental studies, pure and applied sciences, and arts.

Finally, many courses are offered at more than one level of difficulty to provide the opportunity for an individual student to work at his or her own level - to reach ahead in some subjects and to engage in fundamental work in others.

At H.H.S.S. basic level courses are offered in Grade 9 only. General and academic courses are offered from Grade 9 to Grade 12 inclusive and academic courses only are offered in Grade 13. No level of difficulty is assigned to the following subject areas since the course is the same for all students:- Physical & Health education, instrumental music, family studies and typing. I must emphasize that for a secondary school graduation there is no distinction made based upon level of difficulty of a course credit.

The minimum requirements for a Secondary School Graduation Diploma (SSGD) at HHSS are:

1. Three credits from each of the four areas of study.
2. Two credits in intermediate (Grade 9 & 10) English
3. Two credits in intermediate (Grade 9 & 10) Mathematics.
4. One credit in intermediate science.
5. One credit in Grade 9 History (Canadian history).
6. One credit in Grade 10 Geography (Canadian geography).
7. Two credits in senior (Grade 11 & 12) English.
8. Six further credits for a minimum total of 27.

I should emphasize that requirements 1 - 7 must be successfully completed. A student could have 30 credits but if one of the first 7 requirements is not met, then the student is not eligible for

Take aim on Sunday

This weekend will mark one of the high points of the season for the Haliburton County Marksmen Club. Sunday afternoon the club will host its grand Turkey Shoot.

Included in the afternoon's activities will be events for 22 rifles, high power rifles, a trap shoot and, for the first time, hand guns. The range recently received approval for use by hand gun owners, and these shooters are reminded that permits are necessary to convey the pistols to the range.

A spokesman for the club notes that the range has been recently leveled, with an excellent job being done by Arnold Walker of McKnight Haulage.

The club has also acquired a clubhouse, donated by Dr. John Purc. The facility, which will be moved to the range in October will provide shelter from the elements, storage for equipment and a place for the members to meet.

Part of the fall program at the range will include a number of classification shoots and practice sessions. The annual meeting and dinner is planned for November.

Through the winter the club intends to hold a number of seminars covering such topics as firearm safety, maintenance for guns and other subjects of interest to shooters. In a number of cases films may be shown.

Anyone interested in joining the club or spectators wishing to watch the turkey shoot are invited to visit the range on the Bobcaygeon Road, North, this Sunday afternoon. The activities begin at 2:00 p.m.

"AWAKE JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES"

In your publication, "The Truth That Leads to Eternal Life," page 87, it states that "1914 was the year that God's Heavenly Kingdom began its active rule." In direct contrast to this, we compare Watch Tower predictions made prior to 1914 regarding this: God's Kingdom will be set up IN THE EARTH (W.T. 1890, page 82); A.D. 1914 would see the full establishment of the Kingdom of God IN THE EARTH (Thy Kingdom Come, 1891, page 126); 1914 would see the Kingdom of God firmly established IN EARTH on the ruins of the present institutions...He whose right it is to take dominion, will then be present as EARTH'S NEW RULER (The Time is at Hand, pages 76-78). In the light of these, since proven false, predictions and in accordance with Deuteronomy 18:22, revealing the signs of a false prophet, can the Watchtower Society truly be considered as "God's sole visible channel upon Earth today"?
